

The Women of Viet What Breed Are They?

7/19/65
Dirt, diamonds, decadence, sabotage, soldiering, survival

Aristocratic ladies who hoard diamonds.
Peasant women... laboring in rice paddies by day, sleeping in bomb shelters at night.
Bar girls and prostitutes entertaining G.I.'s.
Soldiers in the Women's Auxiliary Corps.
Nurses, dedicated and courageous.
Spies with grenades hidden in their girdles.
Viet Cong saboteurs and smugglers.

"The Women of Viet Nam"
a startling new series by Beverly Deepe
starting Sunday in the Herald Tribune

Reporting on a war which has drastically transformed the social and moral standards of all classes of women, Miss Deepe is a skilled foreign correspondent who is also a perceptive woman... one who has spent the last three years where the action is in Viet Nam.

Don't miss this extraordinary, five-part study of women who are enduring, fighting, exploiting, or just plain surviving amidst a savage, never-ending holocaust. "The Women of Viet Nam" starts Sunday in the Herald Tribune
